Special Grand Jury Will Take Up the Case of Captain Who Shot His Former Friend and Writer Who Held Crowd at Bay.

LATTER INSTIGATED KILLING. FRIENDS OF VICTIM SAY.

Wife of Slayer and Widow of Slain Man Weep Together Over Body - Mrs. Hains Denies Guilt and Alleged Confession.

If the plans of District Attorney Darrin, of Queens, do not miscarry, Capt. Peter C. Hains will be placed on trial within a month for the killing of William E. Annis at the Bayside Yacht Club last Salarday, and T. Jenkins Hains, brother of the slayer, will be tried as an accessory before and during the fact.

The District-Attorney, from the evidence he has gathered, says he feels confident both brothers will be convicted of murder in the first degree. He will ask for a special Grand Jury to be convened next week and move the cases for trial before the middle of September. That T. Jenkins Hains was the moving factor in the crime will be charged by the Prosecutor. Considerable testimony to establish this has been accumulated, outside of the fact that T. Jenkins Hains held a crowd at bay with a drawn revolver while his brother was pumping six bullets into the body of Annis, Intimate friends of the Annis and Hains families have told District Attorney Darrin that T. Jenkins Hains showed by his actions that he entertained more than a brotherly solicitude for his brother's wife, and District-Attorney Darrin, with members of his staff and a corps of detectives, went to Flushing in automobiles this afternoon and traversed the ground covered by the participants in Saturday's tragedy. Photographs and measurements were taken and the names of witnesses were secured. The District-Attorney was told that as far back as the middle of last June T.
